ćišaaʔath (Tseshaht First Nation)

We are the čišaaʔath

We are a vibrant community with an active and progressive natural resources-based economy. We are one of the 14 Nations that make up the Nuu-chah-nulth [Nootka] people of western Vancouver Island. We are proud of our culture and work as a community to preserve our traditional values and teachings.

Boilerplate

čišaaʔath (Tseshaht First Nation) has over 1300 registered members whose ɥaɥuułi includes from the Somass watershed including the entire Alberni Valley, the western portions of both Horne Lake and Cameron Lake, the Alberni Inlet and surrounding lands and watersheds to the Broken Group Islands of central Barkley Sound, and out to the Pacific Ocean. Tseshaht possesses Aboriginal Rights within the ɥaɥuułi [ha-houl-thee] (traditional territory) owned by our tayii ɥawil [ty-ee ha-wil-th] (hereditary chief), including Aboriginal Title.

Information on AIRS

?uuʔatumin yaqckʷiimitqin is the Nuu-chah-nulth word meaning “Doing it for our Ancestors.”

Led by čišaaʔath (Tseshaht First Nation), this project works to heal and bring answers to those affected by the Alberni Indian Residential School (AIRS).

To honour all those who attended the Alberni Indian Residential School, a contribution can be made to the project’s memorial fund at www.tseshaht.com/airs-donate

“Getting the answers survivors & those who didn’t make it home need & deserve”

Traditional language

Our čišaaʔaḥ dialect is one of the nuučaaḥ (Southern Wakishan) languages spoken on the West Coast of Vancouver Island.
